STATUTORY DECLARATION

A Statutory Declaration is a written statement declared to be true and signed in the presence of an authorised witness. Under the Act a person who wilfully makes a false statement in a Statutory Declaration is guilty of an offence. A Statutory Declaration must be made before a prescribed witness. The Australian Government does not appoint Justices of the Peace and has no responsibility for their administration. The various State and Territory Governments are responsible for their appointment and administration under the authority of relevant State and Territory legislation.
