

50th Anniversary Book

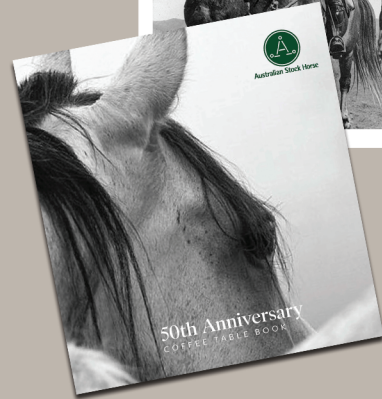

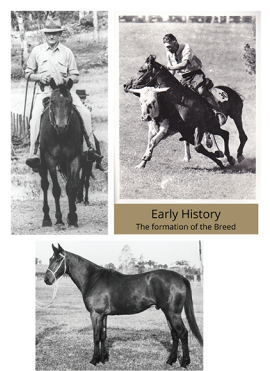

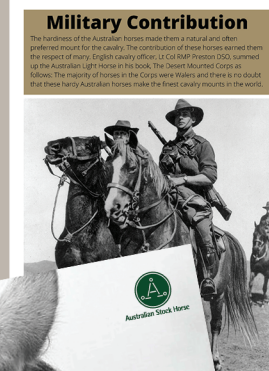

The Society was built on the back of a nation of “can do” people. Our members and horses reflect that attitude. We are an eclectic bunch of characters with colourful and individual stories, horses and lives.

This book is designed to capture all of that history and colour. The publication we are planning to release is a coffee table book and we trust that it will be as entertaining as it is informative.

We intend to capture the stories of the people and the breeding operations that contributed to the evolution of the Society from the ground up. Decade by decade, from the 1970’s until now, you will read the stories of the studs and what made them interested in being a part of this growing phenomenon - that of the recognition of the home-grown horse. The influential Sires and Dams that built individual stud reputations will make for compulsory reading for any horse enthusiast.

If you’d like to be included in this historic publication, you will need to complete the EOI Booking Form below. The book will be designed to tell the story based on the decades in which the studs were established. From the seventies through until now, the evolution of the Society and our horses have mirrored changes in lifestyles over the past half a century and changes to the country itself.

Places are limited so secure your spot in this historic publication now.

EXPRESSION OF INTEREST - BOOKING FORM

Name: Membership Number:

Email: Contact Phone:

Stud Name: Date the Stud was Established:

Is the stud still operating? If not, when did it close?

How many horses has the Stud bred?

Name of Stallions that have stood at the Stud?

I wish to secure pages in the proposed 50th Anniversary Coffee Book at $330/page. I understand that this is an Expression of Interest and that Payment is required prior to the book going to print. Please submit this form to the Office and further contact will be made providing you with the guidelines for contributions.

$330/page (max of 4 pages per stud including photos). We are suggesting that the information you send is no more than 500 words with 6-8 photos (captioned) submitted for consideration to be included with your story. Any information supplied will need to be by the individual contributor themselves.

If you would like someone to write an article for you, you will need to pay for that yourself on top of the cost per page above.
